

A Field Guide to the Frogs of Borneo - Third Edition

Brand:
Product Code: 58392
Availability: 4
Weight: 675.00g
Dimensions: 22.00cm x 16.00cm x 2.00cm

Price: $70.00

Short Description

A comprehensive guide to the more than 180 species of amphibians of Borneo.

Description

A Field Guide to the Frogs of Borneo (third edition) introduces the non-specialist reader to the diverse frog fauna of Borneo, found in habitats ranging from the island's low coasts to near the summits of its highest mountains. More than 180 species of frogs have now been found on the island and the number continues to grow. The current book contains significantly revised and expanded natural history information on Bornean frogs some of it previously unpublished, and detailed accounts for all species currently known. The success of field identifications has been enhanced by addition of new keys to species under each genus, concise morphological descriptions, ecological notes, and high-resolution images. Geographical information has also been included for all species presented. Contributions by many expert photographers and assistance by other herpetologists has greatly enhanced the value of this book as a reference for the Bornean frog fauna.

Robert F. Inger, Robert B. Stuebing, T. Ulmar Grafe and J. Maximilian Dehling.
228 pages. 2017. Hardcover. ISBN - 9789838121767.