Short Description

An essential guide to the captive husbandry and breeding of Australian lizards, compiled by the most well known and successful lizard breeders in Australia.

Description

Keeping and Breeding Australian Lizards, edited by former Herp Books owner Mike Swan. Authored by Kieran Aland (Dragons), Greg Fyfe (Skinks), Grant Husband and Matthew Bonnett (Monitors), John McGrath (Geckos) and Rob Porter (Flap-footed Lizards). Photographs, design and layout by Damian Goodall of Eye For Nature.

From the team that brought you Keeping and Breeding Australian Pythons now comes Keeping and Breeding Australian Lizards. Mike Swan has enrolled the services of Australia's most well known and successful lizard breeders to write the most comprehensive book on the captive husbandry and breeding of Australian lizards. With over 600 pages and more than 1000 photographs, this authoritative book is heavy on information, yet able to be read by even the most basic keeper.

This book includes information on housing, substrates, UV requirements, cycling, incubation, feeding, breeding, health care, diseases and the propagation of live food. A must have for anybody with any interest in breeding lizards, and very affordable for the information it contains.
